DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY

HISTORY AS CONCORDIA

The discipline of history is an exciting venture into the past. History provides an understanding of other times and other cultures. It also gives us insight into ourselves and our own beliefs and values. History is more than a story; it is the critical examination of much of the history of human experience that we can apply to our world. A critical approach to the study of the past helps one to turn back to that, which best fits the needs of our world. Students trained in research methods that allow one to separate myth and reality from the history of what actually happened.

The study of history helps students develop skills that are useful as professionals in verbal and written communication. It will enable the student to express his/her ideas in an organized, logical, and meaningful way, to present the results of an investigation in a coherent manner, to understand expressed ideas, and to evaluate the validity of those ideas. In our society, changes in society now and in the future, mean that one can predict what may happen. One can, however, know less and less of the future as time goes by. As a result, our society will change and think differently. Thus, the future of students of history seems no more uncertain than the future of all other students.

For those students who wish to continue their formal education, members of the Concordia Department of History are well connected. Several a number of outstanding graduate programs and prestigious law schools in Europe, Canada and the United States. Scholarships have been won several Rhodes Scholarships as well as a large number of grants from both the Canadian government and the provinces. Our former students indicate the strength of our program.

COURSE GUIDE

Areas of faculty specialization include European, Latin American, the United States, Asian and African history, political and diplomatic history, social and economic history, and the history of the disciplines. A combination of offerings on both the undergraduate and the postgraduate levels are designed to satisfy the requirements of both full-time and part-time students. Programs offered are designed to be analytical but analytical and critical. Any student who is interested in pursuing a program here includes History - or who is just thinking about it - is invited to speak to one of the Undergraduate Program Advisors. Amendments may be made through the general office throughout the year.

SECTION I

HISTORY AT CONCORDIA

The discipline of history is an exciting venture into the past. It provides an understanding of other times and other cultures; it liberates us from the present so that we can better understand ourselves. History is more than a story; it is the critical examination of both the diversity of human experience and the complexities of human society. A critical approach to the study of the past helps everyone to learn how to read, to write and to think analytically. Historians are trained in research methods that allow them to separate myth and nostalgia from the reality of what actually happened.

The study of history will, therefore, enable the student to become proficient in verbal and written communication. It will enable the student to acquire the ability to do research, to think analytically and to present the results of an investigation in a coherent report. A student equipped with these skills is capable of performing any number of jobs in our society with little or no additional training. In our changing society specific skill requirements change so rapidly that no one can predict what skills will be most in demand in ten or twenty years. One can, however, confidently assert that our society will never lose its need for people who can read, write and think. Thus, the future of students of history seems no more uncertain than the future of all other students.

For those students who wish to continue their formal education, graduates of the Concordia Department of History are frequently accepted by a number of outstanding graduate programmes and prestigious law schools in Europe, Canada and the United States. Our students have also won several Rhodes Scholarships as well as a large number of grants from both the Canada Council and the Government of Quebec. These achievements and the success of our students in their post-graduate careers indicate the strength of our undergraduate programme.

Areas of faculty specialization include Canada, Europe, Latin America, the United States, Asia and Africa and range from political and diplomatic through social and quantitative approaches to the discipline. A combination of offerings on both the Sir George Williams and the Loyola campuses are designed to satisfy the requirements and interests of both full-time and part-time students.

Any student who is interested in pursuing a programme that includes History -- or who is just thinking about it -- is urged to contact one of the Undergraduate Programme Advisors. Appointments may be made through the general office throughout the year.

CONCORDIA HISTORY STUDENTSWHO ARE OUR HISTORY STUDENTS?

Although the majority of our students come from the Montreal area, we also have at present students from several other provinces within Canada and from a host of other nations: the U.S., Britain, the Netherlands, Nigeria, India, Hong Kong, Trinidad and Iran are all represented.

Just over half of our students come to us directly from a Quebec Cegep programme or from high schools outside the Province. Many others come to us with years of experience in the work force, attracted by our part-time, summer and qualifying year programmes.

CONCORDIA HISTORY STUDENTS ASSOCIATION

Concordia History Students Association represents a merger between two traditional organizations, Loyola History Students Association and Concordia University History Society. This merger took place in January 1982 in order to more effectively serve the needs of history students.

The Association is run by history students, and any student enrolled in at least one history course is considered a member. Since the Association relies completely upon student participation, we urge everyone to become involved. In this period of financial instability, humanities programs are especially threatened, and so it devolves upon students to take a stand and show that they care about the future of their department.

Through the medium of the Association, we participate not only in the decision-making process of our own department, but also play an active role in interdepartmental affairs by providing representation. This channelling of ideas promotes communication and cooperation within the University community.

In the past, the activities of the Association have included guest lectures, career forums, Lacolle Weekend conferences and, to lighten the intellectual load, Wine and Cheese parties where students and faculty can meet on a social basis. The Association also publishes annually a Journal containing outstanding work by students. Although we are now one Association, we still maintain two offices, one on each campus, so please contact us for more information.

Through the efforts of the Department of History, the University has assumed an active role in developing educational and research programs within the University community.

In the past, the activities of the Department have focused on the teaching of history, the development of research facilities, and the promotion of research interests within the University community.

Although we do not have a Research Institute, we do have a Research Seminar, which is open to all members of the University community.

I. BA HONOURS IN HISTORY -- 60 CREDITS

A. A History honours student must meet the general degree requirements as well as the specific requirements for an Honours degree.

An honours student must:

- (a) Maintain an average of 'B' or 75% in all honours history courses with no mark in History below 'C' or 65%.
- (b) Have a minimum average of 'B-' or 71% over honours courses taken in each academic year. For part-time students this will be calculated in 18 credit blocks.
- (c) Have an average in non-honours courses of no less than 'C' or 65%. The minimum acceptable grade in these courses is 'D' or 55%.
- (d) Withdraw from the Honours programme if the above conditions are not met (ie. move to the majors or specialization programme). Reinstatement in the Honours programme is possible only by appeal to the Honours Committee of the Faculty of Arts and Science.

B. Courses: The following courses in an approved sequence constitute Honours in history. Students intending to enter the Honours programme are advised to consult with the Undergraduate Programme Director.

- *6 History C201³ and C202³
- *6 History C203³ and C205³
- *6 From surveys at 200 level in United States, Asian, African or Latin American History
- 6 History C200⁶
- 12 History electives at 300 level
- 6 History electives at 400 level
- 6 History C493⁶
- 6 History electives at 300 or 400 level, or related course in another Department (with approval from Department of History)
- 6 History electives at 400 level or related courses in another Department (with approval from Department of History)

II. BA SPECIALIZATION IN HISTORY -- 60 CREDITS

A. This is in keeping with the structures recommended by the Quebec Council of Universities and calls for an approved sequence of courses including 60 or more credits without a prescribed performance requirement.

6.

B. Courses:

- *6 History C201³ and C202³, or C218⁶
- *6 History C203³ and C205³
- *12 From surveys at 200 level in United States, Asian, African or Latin American History
- 18 History electives at any level
- 6 History electives at 400 level

HISTORY C203/2 Section A (SGW)

HISTORY OF CANADA, PRE-CONFEDERATION

INSTRUCTOR: T.B.A.

T TH 13:15-14:05

COURSE DESCRIPTION: A survey of Canadian History, from settlement to Confederation, which emphasizes readings and discussions on selected problems.

PLEASE CONSULT DEPARTMENT OF HISTORY FOR MORE SPECIFIC INFORMATION.

HISTORY C203/2 Section AA (SGW)

HISTORY OF CANADA, PRE-CONFEDERATION

INSTRUCTOR: W. van Nus

T 18:05-20:10

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This lecture and discussion course will deal with certain vital questions in pre-Confederation history more deeply than can text-books. For example, we will explore the controversies over the extent of "freedom" in the society of New France, and the impact on its people of the British Conquest, over whether the Rebellions of 1837 really reflected the popular will, and over whether Confederation was imposed upon the Maritimes by political elites in Britain and central Canada.

FORMAT: Lecture

REQUIREMENTS: Students will be asked to read the relevant section of the text-book and a bit of supplementary reading in preparation for each week's class. They will submit an essay on suggested topics and will write a final examination.

HISTORY C203/2 Section BB (SGW)

HISTORY OF CANADA, PRE-CONFEDERATION

INSTRUCTOR: K. Bindon

M W 16:05-17:55

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This section of History 203 is offered as a part of the core programme of the School of Community and Public Affairs. The course is designed to explore a number of themes and approaches to the pre-Confederation era in British North America. Not only chronological and political developments, but also the roles of different societies and the growth of regional traditions are examined. Thus, the Acadians and the Métis, as well as the Upper and Lower Canadians, are studied in terms of their contributions to regional identities; the process of Confederation is viewed in terms of the many traditions and diverse aspirations that were accommodated between 1867 and 1873. This survey, then, will introduce students to a variety of approaches, themes, events and traditions as they assess the broad historical patterns of the pre-Confederation period. COURSE CONTENT IS IN BOTH FRENCH AND ENGLISH. A KNOWLEGE OF BOTH LANGUAGES IS REQUIRED.

FORMAT: Lecture/Conferences

REQUIREMENTS: Four short reviews (2 pages), one mid-term quiz and a final examination. Attendance at lectures and conferences is compulsory.

MATERIALS: E. McGinnis, Canada: A Political and Social History; Cornell, Hamelin, Ouellet, Trudel, Canada: Unité en Diversité.

HISTORY C203/2 Section 01 (LOY)

HISTORY OF CANADA: PRE-CONFEDERATION

INSTRUCTOR: G. Decarie

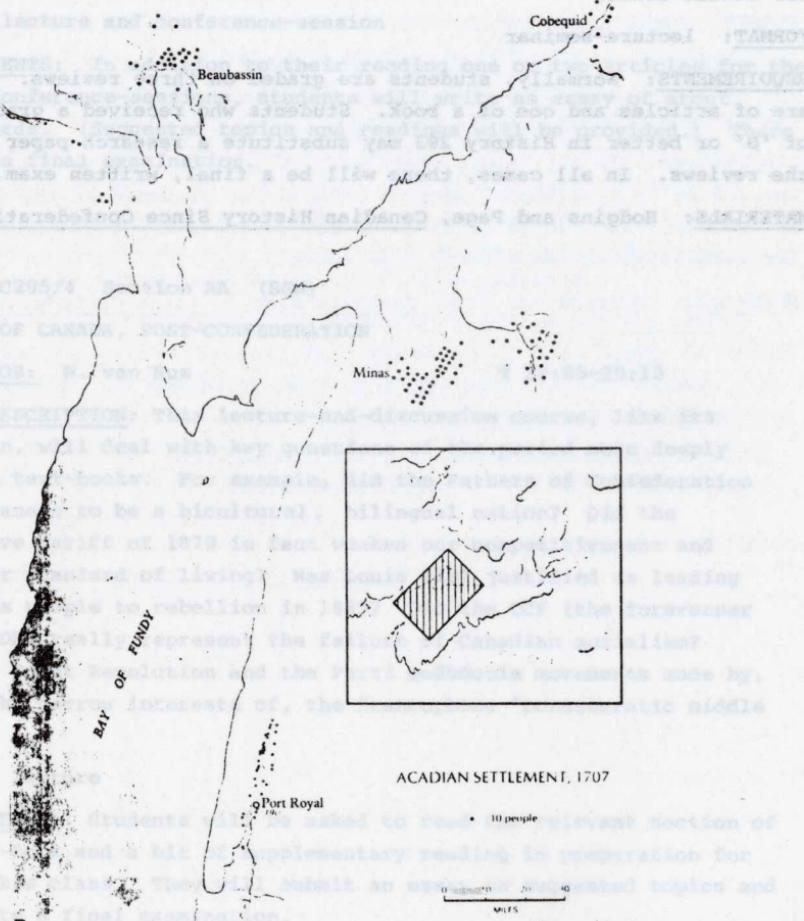

M W 11:45-12:35

COURSE DESCRIPTION: The major aims of the course are to develop interest in Canadian history, to teach students to think critically about it, and to present their own views effectively.

FORMAT: lecture-seminar

REQUIREMENTS: Normally, students are graded on three reviews. Two are of articles, and one of a book. There is also a final, written examination.

MATERIALS: J. Bumsted, Canadian History Before Confederation, (required)

16. HISTORY C203/2 Section AA (SW)

HISTORY OF CANADA, PRE-CONFEDERATION

HISTORY C205/4 Section 01 (LOY)

HISTORY OF CANADA: POST-CONFEDERATION

INSTRUCTOR: G. Decarie

M W 11:45-12:35

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course is a survey of Canadian history from Confederation to the present. Lectures will explore more deeply than do text-books some of the most important questions in our history. For example, how well did Sir John A. Macdonald deal with separatism in Nova Scotia and Western Canada? Why, by 1900, were both major political parties financed mainly by big business dependent on a high protective tariff? Could governments really have done much more than they did to remedy the Great Depression of the 1930's? Were the Quiet Revolution and the independence movement in Quebec essentially concocted by and for a new francophone bureaucratic middle class?

FORMAT: lecture-seminar

REQUIREMENTS: Normally, students are graded on three reviews. Two are of articles and one of a book. Students who received a grade of 'B' or better in History 203 may substitute a research paper for the reviews. In all cases, there will be a final, written exam.

MATERIALS: Hodgins and Page, Canadian History Since Confederation

This course is part of the core program of the School of Canadian Public Affairs. The course is designed to complete a number of themes and approaches to the pre-confederation era in British North America. Not only chronologically, but also in developments, but also the roles of different societies and the growth of regional/traditions are examined. Thus, the Aborigines and the Métis, as well as the Lower and Upper Canadas, are studied in terms of their contributions to regional identities; the process of Confederation is viewed in terms of the many traditions and diverse aspirations that were accommodated between 1867 and 1873. This survey, then, will introduce students to a variety of approaches to issues, events and traditions as they assess the broad historical themes of the pre-Confederation period. COURSE NUMBER IS 10-POINT FRENCH AND ENGLISH. A KNOWLEDGE OF BOTH LANGUAGES IS REQUIRED.

FORMAT: Lecture/Conferences

REQUIREMENTS: TWO THREE-HOUR WRITTEN (2-page), ONE MID-TERM, ONE FINAL EXAMINATION. ATTENDANCE AT SEMINARS AND OUTSIDE READING IS MANDATORY.

MATERIALS: E. McInnis, Canada: A Political and Social History; Cornell, Maclean, Duplessis, Trudeau, Canada since 1945.

HISTORY C205/4 Section A (SGW)

HISTORY OF CANADA POST-CONFEDERATION

INSTRUCTOR: W. van Nus

T TH 13:15-14:05

COURSE DESCRIPTION: The lectures in the course will deal with key questions of the period more deeply than can text-books. For example, did the Fathers of Confederation intend Canada to be a bicultural, bilingual nation? Did the protective tariff of 1879 in fact weaken our competitiveness and lower our standard of living? Was Louis Riel justified in leading the Métis people to rebellion in 1885? Did the CCF (the forerunner of the NDP) really represent the failure of Canadian socialism? Were the Quiet Revolution and the Parti Québécois, movements made by and in the narrow interests of, the francophone "bureaucratic middle class"? In weekly conference-sessions, students will discuss assigned readings, and any questions arising out of lectures or the essay assignment.

FORMAT: lecture and conference-session

REQUIREMENTS: In addition to their reading one or two-articles for the weekly conference-sessions, students will write an essay of about 3,000 words. (Suggested topics and readings will be provided.) There will be a final examination.

HISTORY C205/4 Section AA (SGW)

HISTORY OF CANADA, POST-CONFEDERATION

INSTRUCTOR: W. van Nus

T 18:05-20:10

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This lecture-and-discussion course, like its companion, will deal with key questions of the period more deeply than can text-books. For example, did the Fathers of Confederation intend Canada to be a bicultural, bilingual nation? Did the protective tariff of 1879 in fact weaken our competitiveness and lower our standard of living? Was Louis Riel justified in leading the Métis people to rebellion in 1885? HISTORY C209/2 Section AA (SGW)

HISTORY OF QUEBEC, PRE-CONFEDERATION

INSTRUCTOR: C. Nish

M 18:05-20:10

COURSE DESCRIPTION: An introductory survey of the History of Quebec from its origins as a colony to creation of modern Canada by the British North American Act of 1867. Particular emphasis will be placed on a consideration of those elements of Quebec's past which best assist in the comprehension of the trends prevalent in modern Quebec.

FORMAT: lecture

REQUIREMENTS: All candidates will be required to submit a comparative analysis of one of the pairs of books or a traditional term paper. This essay will be worth 50% of the final grade. RENAISSANCE

INSTRUCTOR: R. Tittler

W 19:00-21:05

COURSE DESCRIPTION: An introduction to the meaning of the Renaissance, chiefly in Italy, intended for students from all departments. The course seeks first to establish the geographic, economic and cultural foundations upon which the civilization of the Renaissance was constructed: the geographic situation of Italy; the development of urban society; the intellectual world of Humanism. The Renaissance itself is treated from a cultural standpoint (art and literature, humanist scholarship and education, Aristotelian and Neo-Platonic philosophy) but against the background of society (population movements, the family structure and its implications, social behaviour), and economic and political development (commerce and early capitalism, political thought and practice). The nature of the Renaissance is contrasted throughout to what has been considered 'medieval' and 'modern'.

FORMAT: Lectures, discussion of readings (primary and secondary) slides and films.

REQUIREMENTS: Readings, which come in various forms, are roughly equivalent to 3 books and 10-12 articles or chapters. There will be a listening assignment for music. One midterm; one final; one paper of c. 10-15 pages.

MATERIALS: This varies annually.

HISTORY C326/4 Section 51 (LOY)

HISTORY OF THE REFORMATION

INSTRUCTOR: R. Tittler

W 19:00-21:05

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This is not a chronological history of Europe in a specific time frame, but rather an introduction to the chief themes of the Reformation era. It is designed for serious students of all departments. We begin with an understanding of the spiritual crisis of the High Middle Ages, and of characteristic reactions to that crisis. These include religious humanism, asceticism, mysticism, fundamentalism, popular religious practices, and specific attention to groups such as the Brethren of the Common Life and Erasmus. The heart of the course is an examination of the chief Protestant traditions of the 16th century--the Zwingli-ites, Anabaptism, Lutheranism, English Protestantism, and Calvinism. Here the emphasis is on social and cultural impact rather than theology, and attempt is also made to clarify the relationship between religion and political change. A section on the Catholic response is followed by a brief study of the 'Reformation analogs' of our own time.

FORMAT: Lectures, discussion of readings, slides and sometimes film.

REQUIREMENTS: Usually a midterm and a final, one paper of about 15 pages and some expectation of active class participation. Readings usually equal roughly 3-4 books and 6-12 articles or chapters of books.

MATERIALS: This varies annually.

URBAN PLANNING IN HISTORICAL PERSPECTIVE

INSTRUCTORS: Walter van Nus and Phyllis Lambert

T 14:45-17:00

(*Also given as URBS C380)

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This lecture-and-discussion course assesses the development of Canadian cities in general and of Montreal in particular, with special stress on the implications for planning. Themes include the relative importance of geographical site and entrepreneurship in the rise of cities; the metropolitan dominance of, and rivalry between, Montreal and Toronto; the history of the early town planning movement in Canada; the conflict among competing language and cultural groups in Montreal; and the aesthetic and social costs of post-war urban redevelopment. The interdisciplinary nature of the course is reflected in the fact that Professor Lambert is a leader in the historical preservation movement, while Professor van Nus is an historian.

FORMAT: Lecture.

REQUIREMENTS:

- (i) Readings: Students are asked to read one or two articles, or the equivalent in length, in preparation for each class.
- (ii) Term Papers: One essay of about 3,000 words is due each term. Suggested topics and readings will be distributed. Each paper is worth one-quarter of the final grade.
- (iii) Examinations: In December, a term exam will be given, based on the lectures and readings of the Fall Term. The final exam in the Spring will be based on the lectures and readings of the Winter Term only. Each exam is worth one-quarter of the final grade.

HISTORY AND SOCIOLOGY OF GENOCIDE

UNITED STATES

AMERICAN JOURNALISM

INSTRUCTORS: F. Chalk (History) and
K. Jonassohn (Sociology)

W 18:05-20:10

COURSE DESCRIPTION: The word "genocide" only came into existence after the Second World War, when a word was needed to describe the deliberate and systematic destruction of a racial, religious, political or ethnic group, but genocide has been practiced in its evolving forms throughout history. We will examine a series of case studies in order to arrive at an understanding of the processes that lead to genocide and also to look at forms of society that seem conducive to it. A number of theories will be examined from the point of view of whether they explain the conditions and processes that have led to genocide. A phenomenon like genocide in an interdisciplinary perspective, we hope to achieve some understanding of a serious problem of most societies that has, so far, received much too little scholarly attention.

FORMAT: Lectures and class discussion.REQUIREMENTS: Members of the class will write a book report on a selected case of genocide and there will be quizzes during the year.MATERIALS: Norman Cohn, Europe's Inner Demons and Leo Kuper, Genocide 1938-1944

FRANCE AND ENGLAND IN THE 18TH CENTURY

T TH 13:15-14:30

COURSE DESCRIPTION: A comparative study of two of the greatest powers in Europe - leading up to Revolution in France and Industrial Revolution in England - not to mention (also in England's court) the American Revolution as well.

FORMAT: Lecture-seminar.

HISTORY C395/4 Section AA (SGW)

THE STATE IN HISTORY

INSTRUCTOR: I. Smith

T 20:25-22:30

COURSE DESCRIPTION: The purpose of this course is to trace the evolution of the state in Europe. It is concerned with the origins of the state in the late fifteenth century as well as the transformation of the state from a dynastic entity to a nation state. In similar fashion, the development of the nineteenth century laissez-faire state will be examined as it is transformed into the welfare state of the twentieth century. The structure of the state in totalitarian regimes will also be considered.

FORMAT: Lecture

REQUIREMENTS: Students will have the option of writing a series of short papers (4) or a final examination (1).

MATERIALS: Readings list will be available before the course begins.

HISTORY C395/2 Section 51 (LOY)

HISTORY INTO FILM: THE CREATION OF A CANADIAN NATIONAL CONSCIOUSNESS

INSTRUCTOR: G. Evans

M 19:00-21:05

COURSE DESCRIPTION: This course will deal with several major historical themes which have been treated in film and will ask the student to separate myth from reality in each case. There will be historical readings and lectures to accompany each film treatment and students will write comparative critical analyses for three-quarters of the films shown. There will be no time to sit back and enjoy - the students must be critical every minute, taking notes in class and during the films, thinking about the strengths and weaknesses of images and ideas.

ADVANCED STUDY IN CANADIAN HISTORY

INSTRUCTOR: K. Bindon

W 18:05 - 20:10

COURSE DESCRIPTION: The broad focus of this research seminar in Canadian history will be the social history of British North America and Canada from the Conquest through the Great War. Emphasis will be placed upon exploring and testing a variety of approaches to the discipline that social history comprehends; students will be investigating problems in legal history, women's history, labour history or local history, among others. After some introductory discussion of approaches to historical research and the writing of history, members of the seminar will be asked to prepare and present an historiographical paper on their research topic. The rest of the year will be spent conducting primary research and preparing a major paper for presentation in the second term.

FORMAT: Seminar

REQUIREMENTS: Presentation and preparation of one historiographic paper and one major research paper. Attendance at all seminars is required.

MATERIALS: Each student will prepare a unique bibliography relating to his research topic. However, all should be familiar with the basic works of Canadian history.

FORMAT: Lecture-seminar.

FORMAT: Lecture.

HISTORY C210/1 Section 80 (LOY)

HISTORY OF POST-CONFEDERATION QUEBEC

INSTRUCTOR: C. Nish

M W F 9:00 - 11:00

COURSE DESCRIPTION: A survey of the History of Quebec from the time of Confederation until modern times. While due emphasis will be placed on political developments in the Province, the purpose of the course is to acquaint the candidates with the significant economic, and social trends in modern Quebec.

REQUIREMENTS: All candidates must submit a term paper, about 2,500 words, in the usual form of history essays, on a subject to be chosen in consultation between the student and the instructor.

OR

Candidates may select any two books of their choice, on the same topic, in consultation with the instructor, and prepare an analysis and comparison of the two works selected. A series of articles on the same subject may be selected in lieu of books. The term essay will be worth 50% of the final grade. All students must see the instructor by the end of January regarding the selection of their books or articles for analysis and comparison, and/or their term paper.

AND

A traditional essay exam will be given at the end of term. Questions for study and preparation will be distributed by the end of January. The final exam will be worth 50% of the final grade.

An acceptable level of English or French is expected in all written work.

MATERIALS: (Required Texts) J. Hamelin, Le Canada Français, 1497-1967; Rioux & Martin, French Canadian Society; C. Nish, Quebec in the Duplessis Era, 1835-1959.

(Optional Text) J. Hamelin, et. al.; Histoire du Quebec.

HISTORY C280/1 Section BA (SGW)

REVOLUTIONS IN THE TWENTIETH CENTURY

INSTRUCTOR: M. Mason

M T TH 18:05 - 21:10

COURSE DESCRIPTION: In this course we will consider revolutions in several Third World countries with a view to determining their specific characteristics. Thus we shall consider questions such as the role (or absence) of the revolutionary party, participation of the masses, and ideology on the one hand, and the nature of the ancien régime and its crises on the other. An attempt will be made to look at instances of states which are absolutist (Ethiopia, Afghanistan), colonial (Mozambique, Algeria, Vietnam) and post colonial (Mexico, Cuba). This course can be seen as preparing students for seminars on social protest at a higher level, namely History C436 and 613, as well as providing a general background in modern history and politics.

FORMAT: Lecture.

MATERIALS: George Rudé, Revolutionary Europe, 1783-1815 (1964), E.J. Hobsbawm, The Age of Revolution, 1789-1848 (1962), E.H. Carr, The Russian Revolution from Lenin to Stalin, (1979), Lucien Bianco, Origins of the Chinese Revolution, 1915-1949 (1971), and for the very eager, Theda Skocpol, States and Social Revolutions (1979).

HISTORY C346/1 Section 50 (LOY)

HISTORY OF MODERN ITALY

INSTRUCTOR: C. Bertrand

T TH 19:00 - 22:00

COURSE DESCRIPTION: Italy has been, as someone once said, a great country for revolutionaries, but not for revolutions. The lectures and readings for this course will stress the almost constant turmoil and tension that have made Italy one of Europe's most paradoxical societies. Since 1848 Italians have tried a number of different approaches in an effort to solve these chronic social, economic and political problems. This course will examine these various approaches and evaluates their effects on Italian society. Therefore, much of the course will be devoted to achieving an understanding of the "isms", liberalism, socialism, nationalism, fascism and communism, that have played such a crucial role in the making of modern Italy.

FORMAT: Lecture.

REQUIREMENTS: Two book reviews (750-1000 words), two small exams ($\frac{1}{2}$ hour) and a final exam.

MATERIALS: Christopher Seton-Watson, Italy from Liberalism to Fascism

Before a huge portrait of Mussolini, Italian troops celebrate in Taranto shortly before sailing for Ethiopia.
